Fraud - Protecting yourself, your family and friends

- Never give personal details (name, address, bank details, email or phone number) to anyone without checking they are genuine. The police and financial organisations will never ask for account details over the phone.
- Always check the identification of anyone you are considering buying a service or goods from.
- If someone offers you goods or a service that seems too good to be true, it could be a scam. Don't feel pressured into taking up an offer before you've checked the company or individual is genuine. If you have concerns or are put under a lot of pressure, just say no.

- Shred documents containing personal information before throwing them away and keep personal documents in a safe and secure place at home.
- Check email addresses. Fraudsters sometimes use false accounts to con people. For example, 'info@ebayz.com'. The real address would be 'info@ebay.com'.
- Make sure your computer, tablet or smartphone has anti-virus and anti-spyware software.
